1. So are you thinking about being a branch president? Bunny Jarrett, President of the Falls Church Branch, asked in an email to branch members to consider this position as her term is ending. In a very descriptive email she outlined the Branch President's job. The basic information came from the AAUW-VA Web Site.

She broke the job down into two parts which lends itself to having co-presidents:

Branch President/Administrator

--ADMINISTRATIVE CONTACT

- Communicates AAUW and state initiatives and programs through email to the membership and encourages support and participation.
- Keeps AAUW, both national and the state, informed of branch activities.

--ADMINISTRATOR OF THE BRANCH

- Presides over the board of directors/leadership team and branch meetings and conducts the business of AAUW.
- With the board/leadership team, plans, implements and monitors branch activities. Acts as the face of AAUW in the branch and the community and is the branch's spokesperson.
- Participates in community events and projects that advance AAUW's mission. This is limited to a few per year.

This is helpful information particularly if you and another person are considering being co-officers or are currently working out how to divide duties.

2. Why are young Americans not voting? Elizabeth Kessel of the Falls Church Branch brought to this subject to branch's leadership with the review of the book "Running from Office: Why Young Americans are Turned Off to Politics" by Jennifer L. Lawless and Richard L. Fox Lawless (Director of the Women & Politics Institute at American University). Since the book indicates young people not only do not want to run for office but are disengaged. This is a program idea for branches and local universities, colleges, high school faculty or students to participate on a panel discussion.

3. What does a superb newsletter look like? Caroline Pickens, the NW District Representative, brought the Mt. Vernon Branch newsletter to our attention. She said it is a great example for good communication. It's succinct, easy to read, and colorful. The newsletter expands communication by:

- Desire to create more interest groups because they are a way branch members get to know each other better
- Magnetic name tags--$5—but permanent
- Branch program schedule with the next one highlighted
- Calendar on the back page with AAUW events listed

Take a look at this newsletter by going to: <http://mtvernon-va.aauw.net/files/2015/05/AAUW-MtVernon-Newsletter-June-2015pdf>

Copy editor, Bianca Daugherty, has these suggestions for newsletters:

- Pages should not be overloaded with text. Add clipart, photos, etc. to break up.
- Don't use too many fonts; pick one that is easy to read. Play with colors to attract attention to a heading or to make an article stand out.
- Add some fun facts once in a while about AAUW (from the AAUW state or national website).
- Proofread!! Cross-check names, dates, etc. Ask for help of eagle-eyed proofreaders.

4. The Springfield-Annadale Branch AAUW had a very interesting speaker who was born in the Manzanar internment camp in California. Her name is Elaine McCarthy and the branch members thoroughly enjoyed her presentation. She concluded her talk by saying that, although the camps are now a part of our history. It is important for everyone to be aware of them so that history never repeats itself. Elaine can be contacted at Elaine.mccarthy@comcast.net .
