Women Breaking Through Panelists

Quarterback Allyson Hamlin

Allyson Hamlin was born in Heidelberg, Germany, grew up in University Park, Maryland, and played college softball for the University of Maryland. As a catcher, she was part of a Terrapins team that won the ACC championship in 1997.

Hamlin graduated from the University of Maryland with a bachelor's degree in criminology/criminal justice in 1998 and joined the Prince George's County Police Department the following year. She has been assigned to the Homicide Unit since 2009 and has now worked on over 250 homicide cases. Hamlin is currently the longest-tenured female working on the Homicide Unit.

In 2002, Allyson Hamlin joined the D.C. Divas, a women's full-contact football team, and she quickly established herself as one of the top quarterbacks in women's football. A ten-time all-pro, Hamlin has compiled an 89-23 career record as a starting quarterback. She has thrown over 200 touchdown passes and amassed over 13,000 passing yards in her career. Hamlin has won two national championships as the Divas' starting quarterback in 2006 and 2015; she will be entering her 14th season of play in 2016.

Sheriff Stacey Ann Kincaid

Sheriff Stacey Ann Kincaid is the first woman to lead the Fairfax County Sheriff's Office in its 273-year history. She won a special election in 2013 to fill the balance of a term through 2015. On November 3, 2015, she was re-elected to a full four-year term. The Sheriff serves Fairfax County, the City of Fairfax, and the Towns of Herndon and Vienna.

Sheriff Kincaid is a 28-year veteran of the Sheriff's Office. Starting as a sheriff's deputy right out of college, she worked her way up to the rank of captain before being elected sheriff. In 2008, she received the agency's highest honor, the Distinguished Service Award, which recognizes a career of sustained, exemplary performance.

She has taken an active leadership role in community relations, especially concerning the safety and well-being of children, seniors, and individuals suffering from mental illness. In 2014, Virginia Lawyers Weekly presented her with an Influential Women of Virginia award. The honor recognizes women in all fields who are making notable contributions to their chosen professions, their communities, and society at large.

A graduate of Langley High School in McLean, Virginia, Sheriff Kincaid received her bachelor's degree in political science/criminal justice from Frostburg State University in 1987.

Rear Adm. Sandy Daniels.

Rear Adm. Sandy Daniels graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in June 1980 and was designated as a naval aviator in January 1982. Her aviation assignments included Oceanographic Research Squadron 8 where she flew specially configured research P-3 Orions worldwide and the Naval Research Laboratory where she flew research missions. While there, she was also the military liaison to the Space Science Division, earning her space operations subspecialty designation. She was subsequently assigned to the Naval Space Surveillance Center in Dahlgren, Virginia. In October 1991, she transitioned to the Reserve component with over 2,000 flight hours.

Daniels held numerous billets in the Navy Reserve Space Program, including units supporting the National Reconnaissance Office, Naval Space Command, OPNAV N6, and United States Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM). She served as director, Navy Space & Network Warfare Program from October 2005 to September 2007, and was selected for flag rank.

Her first flag assignment was as the reserve assistant, Communication Networks on the Chief of Naval Operations' staff (N6R). She later served as director, Warfare Integration on the Chief of Naval Operations' staff (N6F), deputy commander of USSTRATCOM's Joint Functional Component Command for Space, Vandenberg Air Force Base, California, senior advisor for Space to the Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Information Dominance (OPNAV N2/N6) and reserve deputy Commander, U.S. Pacific Fleet. She earned a master's degree in science, technology and public policy (space policy emphasis) from George Washington University.